Week – 16th November 2023

It's been another busy and action-packed week in year five! We have enjoyed odd-sock day and exploring how to be a good friend and thinking about the impact that bullying can have. The children have really impressed us with their thoughtful responses.

What have we been learning about this week?

Learning Means the World

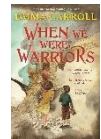

This week has had a music focus and the children all enjoyed composing their own music with a battle theme using Chrome music lab. This was great fun and the children thought very carefully about how to reflect the different sounds and emotions of each stage of a battle by varying the tempo and volume of their compositions.

Maths

We have begun a new unit on fractions and we were very impressed with how much the children had remembered about fractions from last year. We are looking at equivalence and will be moving on to converting mixed numbers into improper fractions.

Reading

We have looked at the exciting first chapter of our new novel and were gripped by the powerful and shocking opening. We are looking forward to finding out what happens next and will be exploring our theme of conflict through the eyes of children during World War II.

Writing

This week we have been exploring grammar concepts with a focus on how to link our paragraphs and using relative clauses to create multi-clause sentences, which allow us to add additional detail.

PE

We have continued to love the weekly sessions with Sporting Influence and this week, we were focusing on communication and how to build teamwork. The children made huge amounts of progress with this in just one lesson – we can't wait for next week!

RE

We are looking at similarities and differences between holy books of different faiths and exploring how they can offer valuable advice and guidance throughout our lives.

Our theme in Collective worship is Friendship and Anti-Bullying Week
